ITEM

19a. Give:

- (1) the genealogy, including public and commercial varieties, lines, or clones used, and the breeding method;
- (2) the details of subsequent stages of selection and multiplication:
- (3) evidence of uniformity and stability; and
- (4) the type and frequency of variants during reproduction and multiplication and state how these variants may be identified
- 19b. Give a summary of the variety's distinctness. Clearly state how this application variety may be distinguished from all other varieties in the same crop. If the new variety is most similar to one variety or a group of related varieties:
 - (1) identify these varieties and state all differences objectively;
 - (2) attach replicated statistical data for characters expressed numerically and demonstrate that these are clear differences; and
 - (3) submit, if helpful, seed and plant specimens or photographs (prints) of seed and plant comparisons which clearly indicate distinctness.

19c. Exhibit C forms are available from the PVPO Office for most crops; specify crop kind. Fill in Exhibit C (Objective Description of Variety) form as completely as possible to describe your variety.

- 19d. Optional additional characteristics and/or photographs. Describe any additional characteristics that cannot be accurately conveyed in Exhibit C. Use comparative varieties as is necessary to reveal more accurately the characteristics that are difficult to describe, such as plant habit, plant color, disease resistance, etc.
- 19e. Section 52(5) of the Act requires applicants to furnish a statement of the basis of the applicant's ownership. An Exhibit E form is available from the PVPO.
- 20. If "Yes" is specified (seed of this variety be sold by variety name only, as a class of certified seed), the applicant MAY NOT reverse this affirmative decision after the variety has been sold and so labeled, the decision published, or the certificate issued. However, if "No" has been specified, the applicant may change the choice. (See Regulations and Rules of Practice. Section 97.103).
- 23. See Sections 41, 42, and 43 of the Act and Section 97.5 of the regulations for eligibility requirements.
- 24. See Section 55 of the Act for instructions on claiming the benefit of an earlier filing date.

Exhibit A. Origin and Breeding History

The hybridization and pedigree selection method of plant breeding was used in the development of 'AT-215'.

In 1994, the cross of 'Virugard' and 'AT108 HO' was made. The Virugard parent is a large seeded commercial runner type developed by Agra Tech. 'AT108 HO' is also an Agra Tech line that was never released.

Over the following nine generations, seed from this cross were planted in progeny rows and individual plant selections made for high oleic trait, uniformity of pod and seed size, commercial runner market type, high yield and grade and early maturity. The line was considered stable and not further segregation noted in 2003.

Increase plots of 'AT-215' were observed for three generations (2003-2005) and were determined to be stable and uniform. Tests were conducted from 2003 to present.

Variants appear in 'AT-215' at a frequency of about <1%. These variants have a darker pink seed coat (testa) color.

Exhibit A – Origin and Breeding Statement (Amended)

'AT108HO' is a high oleic line developed through backcrossing 'GK-7HO' to 'AT108'. 'AT108' was the reciprocal parent and four backcrosses were made. 'AT108HO' was selected from this material but was never considered for release because of its susceptibility to TSWV.

Exhibit B - Statement of Distinctness (amended)

The variety designated as 'AT-215' has been selected for its high oleic trait, high yield and early maturity.

'AT-215' is most similar to 'Virugard' in that both are large seeded commercial runner market types. The two varieties have a very similar pod size and seed size distribution with similar shelling characteristics (see Exhibit C). "AT-215' and 'Virugard' are both early maturing commercial runner type varieties maturing in 120 days in the Southeast (see Exhibit C) and 130 to 135 days in West Texas.

'AT-215' differs from 'Virugard' in plant growth habit and fatty acid composition. The variety designated as 'AT-215' has a prostrate plant growth habit and a very prominent main stem during the growing season. 'Virugard' has an upright, decumbent (spreading bunch) plant growth habit with no distinct main stem. 'Virugard' also has much less vegetative growth. The fatty acid composition of 'AT-215' is also different from 'Virugard' (see Exhibit C). 'AT-215' is a high oleic low linoleic variety (79.68% oleic and 3.17% linoleic) and 'Virugard' is an intermediate high oleic intermediate low linoleic variety (63.35% oleic and 17.6% linoleic).
